Dr Janet Clarke

Dr Clarke is the Clinical director of Birmingham Community Healthcare Trust Community Dental Service (CDS) and Honorary clinical lecturer at Birmingham Dental School.

Dr Clarke was awarded her Bachelor of Dental Surgery Degree by the School of Dentistry, University of Birmingham, in 1981, and a Master of Community Dental Health in 1989. After working as a clinical dental officer in a number of different health authorities (Dudley, Bartley Green, Birmingham, Central Birmingham and Solihull) over a nine-year period, she took up her current post in 2002. As clinical director at Birmingham Community Healthcare Trust CDS, Dr Clarke manages an NHS dental budget of over £6 million. She oversees the provision of the community dental service for vulnerable patients in Birmingham, Sandwell, Dudley and Walsall. This includes the provision of mobile dental units in areas of social deprivation, complex dental treatment on a domiciliary basis, and intravenous sedation services for severely anxious patients.

Dr Clarke has been an Honorary Senior Lecturer in Dental Public Health at the University of Birmingham for over 20 years. She was awarded a Fellowship of Dental Surgery by the Royal College of Surgeons of England in 2003. She has significant experience of representing the dental profession. Locally, she has served as Chair of the BDA’s West Midlands Division of the CDS Group, and as president of the BDA’s Central Counties Branch. On the national stage, she has been President of the BDA, chaired the BDA’s Central Committee for Community and Public Health Dentistry (the forerunner of the current Salaried Dentists Committee) and successfully led the negotiations to introduce a new contract for salaried primary care dentists in 2007. She has also served as a member of the Association’s Executive Board, and Representative Body.
